Introduction

To ensure this evaluation goes smoothly, please respect the following set of rules :

- Please remain courteous, polite, respectful, and constructive at all times during this exchange. The trust bond between the school's community and yourself depends on it.

- Keep in mind that some subjects can be interpreted differently.
If you come across a situation where the student you're grading has interpreted the subject differently than you, try and judge fairly whether their interpretation is acceptable or not, and grade them accordingly. Our peer-evaluation system can only work if you both take it seriously.

Disclaimer

You will be held accountable for how honestly you answer on their progress.

Guidelines

- You may only evaluate the performance of the student you are grading.

- Talk to one another, find out if this individual is still invested in 42.
If they're struggling with the curriculum, can you help them on a project?
Can you introduce someone else to help them?
If not, what have they been doing with their time?

Dorm Requirements

Log time

Are they logging more than 35 hours a week in the lab since the last evaluation of this project?
If no, do they have a valid reason? (Family, vacation, emergency, etc...)

[Good] Student A has a huge 2 month gap in their log hours, but they have been logging 36.75 hours every week ever since they've been subscribed to Check Your Dorms.
[Bad] Student B has not been getting enough hours in general -- everything is lightly colored. They have not gone to the Bocal to let them know.

   ✓ Yes   ✕ No

C Exam (Beginner or Intermediate)

Have they attended 2 exams in the last month?

[Good] Student A did not take 2 exams per month until they were subscribed to Check Your Dorms. Since then, they took every exam they could.
[Bad] Student B took 2 exams four months ago and they only took 1 exam in the last 30 days.

   ✓ Yes   ✕ No

Levels per month

Are they achieving 1 level per month? / Have they made up for their lag?

While it's not infallible, a decent indicator of whether they've made substantial progress since their inscription to Check Your Dorms is the ETEC at the top of their intra profile. If the user is estimated to finish the program in the amount of time the program is intended to be finished (3 ~ 5 years), they are probably doing well. But use your head! How long have they been at the school and approximately what level should they be?

[Good] Student A started in October and it is now February of the following year. 4 months have passed and they are level 4.
[Bad] Student B says they will be at (or close to) the appropriate level after they submit XX project, but because they are not at that level at the time of this correction, it should not count. If there's any reason prohibiting them from reaching the level requirement, student B is advised to come to Bocal.
